How did the Fund perform during the reporting period?

During the Fiscal Year ended September 30, 2026, the JAG Large Cap (JLGIX) Fund's outperformance was primarily influenced by three key factors:

- Our stock selection within Information Technology was the primary driver. The sector resulted in 15.4% of overall effect with semiconductor stocks experiencing large gains.
- Health Care was the second largest contributor to overall attribution, with leading cancer diagnostics company Natera leading the charge.
- Except for the pace of hiring, the overall economy remains strong. Robust consumer spending continues to surprise to the upside, and AI-driven capital spending is acting as a tailwind.
- The path of energy prices and the broader trend in inflation will likely matter more to the rate policy in Q4.

Our investment team employs a bottom-up stock selection strategy, focused on investing in companies that we believe have strong fundamentals and sustainable competitive advantages. We maintained a focused portfolio of 30-40 securities, aligning with our long-standing "best ideas" approach to equity investing.
